businesswire, May 30, 2019, 5:07 pm

Kickbox, a world leader in email address verification trusted by top ESPs and Sponsored by Businesswire brands since 2014, is announcing the launch of its new Kickbox Partner Portal. Designed with feedback from its long-standing partners, the portal is designed to give brands, agencies, and ESPs the ability to proactively provision and holistically manage Kickbox accounts for their teams and customers, eliminating any friction of traditional onboarding.

Marketing Democracy, a search consultancy focused on assisting enterprise brands with the ESP RFP and migration process, is among the list of inaugural users of the portal. Its president, Chris Marriott, spoke on the value of the portal for his organization:

"The partner portal will allow Marketing Democracy to offer our Clients the opportunity to easily import, verify and export validated email addresses as they migrate from their prior ESP to their new ESP. Even if they are using someone else for email verification, this provides another level of confidence that a brand's emails will continue to get great inbox placement in the new platform."

several clients or subsidiary companies to monitor. I'm excited to launch this new portal because it will finally give our partners a single source to visualize and influence list verification data while reducing friction of on-boarding new accounts and monitoring critical email health data across a larger organization."

The Kickbox Partner Portal is available now to agencies, brands, and ESPs. To hear more about Kickbox's verification services, schedule a demo or contact Kickbox's VP of Business Development, Jack Wrigley directly at jack@kickbox.com.
